Never a Farewell

There is never a goodbye in the words of the wise
Never any tears in the crying of our eyes
There is never a departure in the hearts of the caring
Never a hard feeling when eyes are staring
There is never a cold shoulder when there are warm hearts in the room
Never a shudder a hint of impending doom
There is no belatedness in the arms of those who create a family
Never a lost one when mending it frantically
There is always a kiss that touches the cheek of those who leave
With intentions of coming back if you will and believe
There is always a hug in the hands of those who love
For that is the sign of the one above
There is always the want to be by the side
Of a class that never lets a goodbye go or slide
There is never a farewell in the mouth of the seniors
For we will always be together with open doors

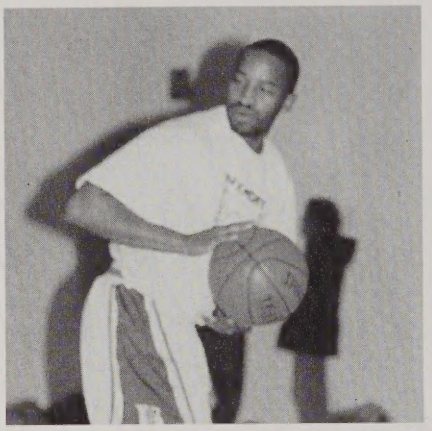
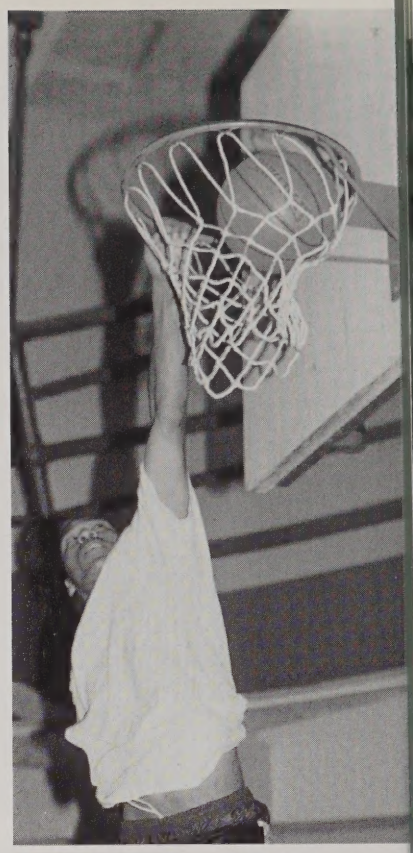
Students VS the teachers basketball game

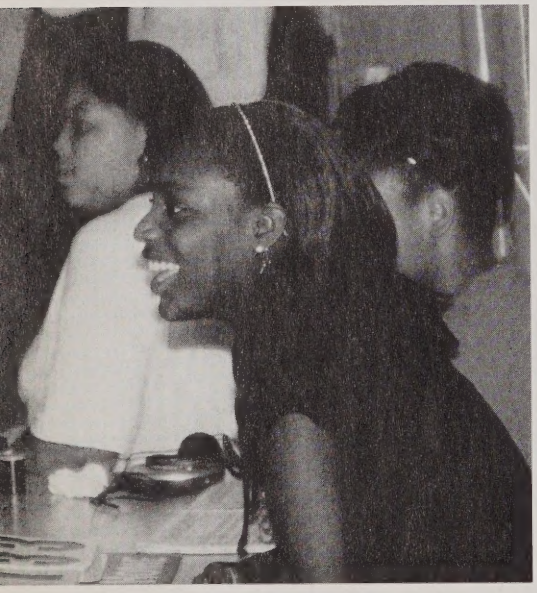
And the school pep rally

Cathedral High School is a place with great spirit. One way this is shown is in the beginning of the school year we hold a pep rally in support of all of the sports teams. Also at the rally each class gets to show it's pride. This year was one of the best. Each class cheered its name as loud as possible (did the walls of the caff start to move?). All of the teams felt the pride that the school has in them.

This year, as last year, the students took the win at the basketball game with the teachers. The game was much closer than last year. The teachers had a good attack but to no avail. Needless to say the students had the players (more to put in than the teachers). At the end the teachers could walk away feeling that they did their best.





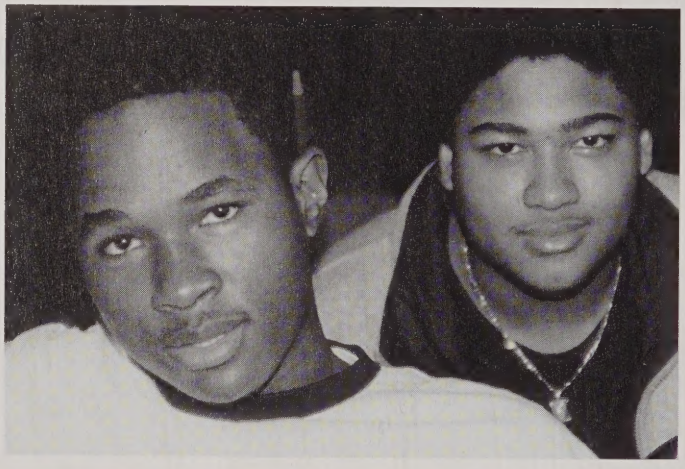


Action on the court.
A shot is taken and captured in air. Did it make the basket?

Let's GO

Praise the LORD!

"Let's Go"? Go where?



Marcus and Gary are thinking "We are handsome and intelligent, what more could you ask for?"

It is time to crack down and cra open some books.

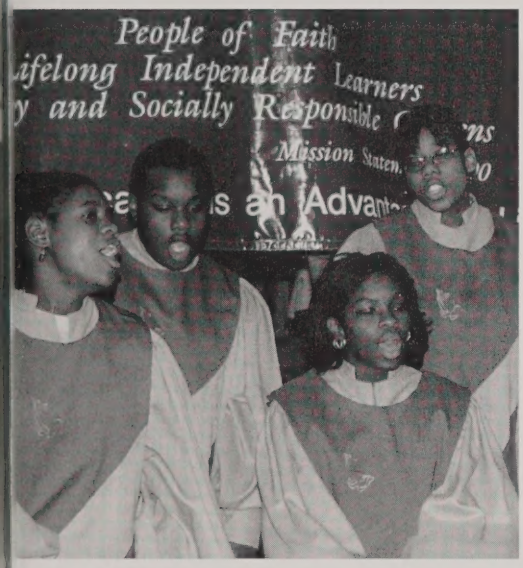
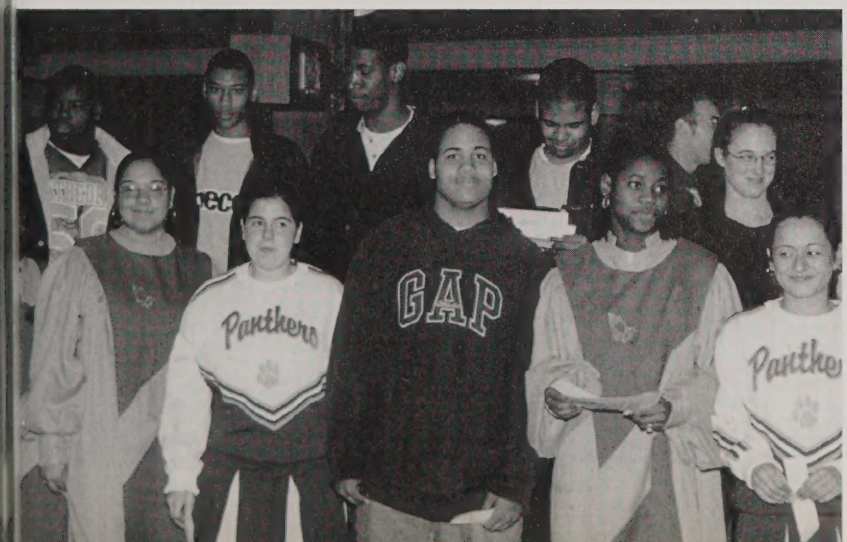
The girl who started the fire!

YES! We actually got awards!

Cathedral students have learned that celebrating athletic teams are not the only reason to hold a pep rally. The "Let's Go" Committee has begun its debut year here at Cathedral. "Let's Go" is an academic motivation and incentive program designed to encourage students to stay academically inspired. The program hopes to get CHS students excited and involved in a quest for academic achievement. Students' pride in their academics is rewarded with special honors and prizes during the four rallies that take place each year. Awards are presented for Academic Achievement, Academic Effort, Academic Progress, Special Assignment Recognition and Academically Related Extra-Curricular Achievement. Cathedral is proud to pioneer this program and are equally as proud to recognize our many achievements. "Let's Go" is well on the way to success.





Singing the praises of earning good grades.

Don't they look happy that they received awards.

Cathedral High Sports

A winning season for the soccer team

In Cathedral High School, when it comes to sports, we have had our ups and downs. Our soccer team is an excellent example of that statement. Three years ago, the school did not even have a soccer team. The following year, the team had to play five games to get in the league. And last year, the team finally had a complete season, but we won only one game out of seventeen games, and that one win was a forfeit.

This year was different; the soccer team had its first taste of success. The soccer team made it to the state's tournament, with nine wins, seven losses and two ties. The team came into the season with low expectations from outsiders, but thanks to their confidence and teamwork, the soccer team proved them wrong.

By the end of the season, the soccer team was attracting much attention. Their dramatic improvement was evident in the championship qualifying game of the season against Lowell Catholic High School. The game started well for the opposing team. At the half, Lowell was leading 1-0. In the second half, Cathedral was still playing hard even though they could not convert a goal. Cathedral rallied when Senior, Glen Hydes scored the game-tying goal with five minutes left on the clock. Three minutes later, it was sophomore, Jonathan Guillen's time to shine, scoring his first goal of the season. A minute later, the referee whistled, and the team and crowd went wild.

Even though Cathedral did not win their playoff game, they established themselves as an up and coming team in their division. After such a surprising season, who knows what is in store for the Panthers next year. Whatever next year holds, we are now a force to be reckoned with.

Cheerleading

Cheerleading, to many of you, may seem like a prissy, girly type of sport. But it's actually a lot of hard work. Every year, cheerleaders cheer at boy's basketball games, girl's basketball games, and of course football.

To be a good cheerleader, you must be a dedicated cheerleader. Which means showing up at practices and games and putting as much effort and dedication into it.

New cheerleaders are chosen each year. Which also means cheerleaders leave each year. Auditions are open to every female.

Cheerleaders are chosen based on their ability to learn routines quickly, skill, and vocal ability.

I am proud to say this year the CHS cheerleading squad entered its first competition and came in fourth place. We also received awards for Crowd Pleaser and Most Spirit. This was a very great achievement for us, at our first competition.

The captains of our cheerleading squad, Carly Bradley and Shanika Houlder, who are excellent

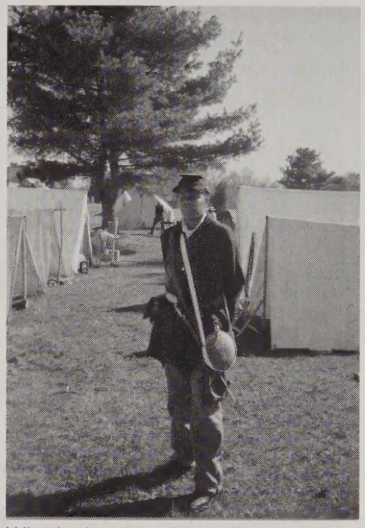
Cathedral

Step back in time with the 54th.

Have you ever wanted to go back in time? Many people may want to but do not have a time machine. At Cathedral there is just such machine. It starts in the classroom with the study of the people and places of the American Civil War. After study, the travelers build a persona, dress in the period clothing and step into the past. The 54th club has been as far south as Olustee Florida and as far north as Portsmouth New Hampshire. The club has also performed a one-act play about equal pay for equal work at the Old State House in Boston. The 54th Club is concerned about the issue of human rights. We see from our study of the past that we have come a long way but we still have further yet to go.



Who is that "man" in uniform?

Nancy as a member of the United States Christian Commission.

The Election 2000

After five weeks of hand recounts, court appeals, concessions and retractions, Vice President Al Gore's final concession of the presidency to Texas Governor George W. Bush and his vice-presidential running mate Dick Cheney brought an end to one of the longest and most eventful elections in American history.

What happened? The Election at a Glance:

AP Photo/Jim Cole

November 7 (Election Day): Shortly before 8 p.m. EST, the major television networks estimate Al Gore and vice-presidential running mate Joe Lieberman the winners.

With a too-close-to-call election throughout much of the nation, Florida becomes the key state in deciding the winner, as the next president will need Florida's 25 electoral votes to win.

November 8: At 2:15 a.m., results from Florida begin to suggest George Bush carries the battleground state. Gore concedes the election to Bush, thinking Bush has at least a 50,000 vote lead. Forty-five minutes later, Gore gets word Bush's lead has shrunk to only a few thousand votes, and retracts his concession.

Due to the closeness of the election, the focus turns to questionable ballots and fair voting practices.

In St. Louis, Mo., a controversy arises over a lower court's ruling to keep the polls open past the 7 p.m. deadline.

In Palm Beach County, Fla., an unexpectedly large number of votes for Reform Party candidate Pat Buchanan lead to questions about the legitimacy of the punch-card-style "butterfly ballot."

November 9: Gore's team requests a hand recount of ballots in four Florida counties, Palm Beach, Miami-Dade, Broward and Volusia.

November 16: Bush's lawyers submit written arguments to the U.S. Federal Appeals Court to end recounts.

November 22-December 8: Hand recounts and legal battles continue, making the word "chad" (the small piece of paper punched out of the ballots) a household word.

December 9: The U.S. Supreme Court halts the manual recounts and sets a hearing for two days later.

December 13: In a public concession speech, Gore states he no longer wishes to prolong the election, and yields the presidency, making George W. Bush the nation's 43rd president, and the first chief executive since Benjamin Harrison in 1888 to claim the office with the majority of electoral votes but a minority of the popular vote nationwide.

Elian Gonzalez, a six-year-old Cuban boy found off the coast of Florida, survived yet another ordeal: the brutal custody battle between relatives in Miami and his father in Cuba. The long struggle culminated in a late-night raid on a Miami home where armed U.S. agents seized Elian by force, putting him in the custody of his father who returned with Elian to Cuba.

In a stunning surprise move, Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak announced his resignation. Barak's popularity had dropped during the ongoing conflict between Israelis and Palestinians. Barak stood for re-election, hoping for a vote of confidence from the Israeli People, but lost to Likud party leader Ariel Sharon.

Many thought peace between North Korea and South Korea would never happen, but the past year saw warming relations between the two countries, which are still technically at war. Images of North Korean leader Kim Jong Il entertaining South Korea's Kim Dae-jung at a June peace summit in Pyong-yang were considered some of the most surprising news pictures of the year.

Tragedy struck when Air France Flight 4590, one of only 13 Concorde jetliners in use, caught fire upon takeoff and crashed into a small hotel in the French town of Gonesse. The 109 people aboard were killed, as well as four people on the ground.

Hillary Rodham Clinton became the first active first lady of the United States to win an elective office when she defeated U.S. Republican representative Rick Lazio for one of New York's U.S. Senate seats.

Elections in Yugoslavia turned angry when Prime Minister Slobodan Milosevic lost to the people's choice Vojislav Kostunica 35 percent to 55 percent. The election's close margin of error would have warranted a recount, but Milosevic refused to hold another election, declaring himself the winner. The outraged public rallied violently in the streets of Belgrade, and the riots combined with pressure from the U.N. and Russia finally forced Milosevic to concede the election to Kostunica.

Bitter cold and freezing water did not deter an estimated two and a half million people who bathed in India's Ganges River on the first day of a Hindu religious festival. The Maha Kumbh Mela, or Grand Pitcher Festival, takes place every 12 years and sees millions of devotees bathe in the Ganges to purify their sins.

As the price of crude oil reached a 10-year high of $34 per barrel, angry truckers and farmers throughout Europe blockaded oil depots and put a chokehold on much of the nation's fuel supply. The high petrol prices led to an unprecedented show of public dissent in European countries, particularly Britain.

After 15 years of co-hosting with Regis Philbin on "Live with Regis and Kathie Lee," Kathie Lee Gifford bid farewell to the show. The 46-year-old entertainer, wife of former football star and Monday night sports announcer Frank Gifford, cited concerns about spending more time with her two young children, son Cody and daughter Cassidy, as reasons for leaving the show. ABC soap opera actress Kelly Ripa was selected as Gifford's replacement.

Reality-based television shows became a pop-culture phenomenon with the summer debut of CBS's "Survivor" and "Big Brother." Richard Hatch was the first contestant to survive "Survivor," winning the $1 million grand prize. The shows feature screened contestants placed in real-life situations with no scripts or predetermined outcomes. MTV's "The Real World" was the predecessor to the popular "real" shows, followed by "Who Wants to be a Millionaire," "Greed" and "Making the Band."

Also named Sexiest Man Alive in 1995, Pitt is the first two-time title-holder since the magazine began its "Sexiest" tradition in 1985.

After being diagnosed with testicular cancer, MTV comedian Tom Green of the "The Tom Green Show" aired a TV special documenting his battle with cancer as well as the comedian's lymph node removal surgery. Green hoped televising his experience would help others gain awareness about cancer.

The Beatles' 1966 record "Revolver" has been named the greatest rock album ever in a poll conducted by the cable music channel VH1. The Beatles capped a list of the 100 best rock albums taken from a VH1 poll of 500 rock journalists and musicians, including Britney Spears, Jackson Browne, Elvis Costello, Roberta Flack and Art Garfunkel. The Fab Four are still topping the charts with "1," a collection of all the Beatles' number one hits.

"The West Wing" set a record for the most Emmys earned by a show in its first season. The NBC political drama won nine Emmys, including outstanding drama, at the 52nd Annual Prime Time Emmy Awards. The show surpassed the record previously held by "ER" and "Hill Street Blues." The NBC comedy "Will & Grace" also turned 11 of its nominations into awards, including outstanding comedy.

Eminem's "The Marshall Mathers LP" sold 1.76 million copies during its first week.

Harry Potter mania infected readers around the world. Although Book One of the series, "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone," was first published in 1997, Y2K saw a mad surge in popularity for the boy wizard. The first four of the seven-book series, released by the end of 2000, sold 60 million copies in 200 countries. The voluminous 734-page "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire" (book four) packed book houses with a record first printing of 3.8 million copies.

Surgeons at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center performed the first coronary bypass in the United States on a conscious patient. The first five cloned piglets were presented to the world in April. The pigs were cloned from fetal-pig skin cells and scientists believe that due to the similarities between porcine (pig) and human organs, the techniques used to clone this litter may eventually create a supply of genetically modified pig livers and other organs that would be acceptable to the human immune system.

Researchers from Carnegie Mellon unveiled Nomad, the first robotic planetary rover with onboard intelligence. Previous planetary explorers, such as the Mars Pathfinder, needed human controllers to tell them what to do, but Nomad performs tasks such as snapping pictures, collecting samples and sending data back to earth by itself. Using a laser range finder and spectrometer, the robot analyzes every single rock in its path. Scientists hope to employ future generations of the rover to explore other planets.

It was a bittersweet victory for scientists when they successfully cloned a dead Asian gaur, an extinct species, and brought it into the world from the belly of a farm cow. The baby bull, called Noah, was born at Trans-Ova Genetics in Sioux City, Iowa, but died shortly after birth. Although Noah died, the project gives hope for ways to save endangered species and resurrect those already extinct.

After years of dreaming, planning and arguing over who should get the credit, the International Human Genome Project and Celera Genomics put their differences aside and officially announced they have (both) deciphered the 3.1 billion biochemical "letters" of human DNA. The amazing breakthrough will allow scientists vast insight into human health and disease at the molecular level, knowledge that will lead to a revolution in diagnosing and treating everything from Alzheimer's to cancer. The discovery is seen as one of history's great scientific milestones, the biological equivalent of landing on the moon.

Spectators beheld a dazzling opening ceremony, including the lighting of the torch by Australian runner (and native Aborigine) Cathy Freeman, who was later overcome with emotion when she won the gold for the women's 400-meter race.

Although the games received the lowest television ratings since 1968, many athletes gave inspirational performances.

United States sprinter Marion Jones fell short of her goal to win five gold medals, but still got the gold in the 100 and 200 meter sprints, and the 4x400 meter relay, as well as the bronze in the long jump and 4x100 meter relay, winning the medals in spite of the distraction of husband and shot put world champion C.J. The Kansas City Wizards downed the Chicago Fire, 1-0, for the MLS Cup at RFK Stadium in Washington, D.C. The win was a surprise comeback for the Kansas City team who finished last in 1999, and had not been to the MLS post-season since 1997. With 10 saves in the Chicago game and a record 16 shutouts in 2000, Wizards goalie Tony Meola had one of the best seasons of any player in MLS history, earning MVP honors from MLS and Honda, as well as Aquafina Goalkeeper and Ace Comeback Player of the Year awards.

The Year In Sports

The Houston Comets pulled ahead in overtime for their fourth straight WNBA Championship with a 79-73 victory over the New York Liberty, making Houston the first professional basketball team to win four straight titles since the Boston Celtics captured eight in a row in 1959. The Comets defeated New York 2-0 overall in the series with the help of four-year MVP Cynthia Cooper, who hit a 3-pointer with 21 seconds left, forcing the tied game into overtime.

Sports Illustrated magazine's Sportswoman of the Year Venus Williams proved power ruled in 2000. The female tennis phenomenon captured the ladies singles title at Wimbledon, not only claiming her first Grand Slam victory, but also becoming the first female black champion at Wimbledon since 1958. She and younger sister, Serena, teamed up to win the doubles crown at the All England Club. Williams later went on to win the U.S. Open, and take the gold in both singles and doubles (with Serena) at the Sydney Olympic Games.

Indiana University's volatile basketball coach Bobby Knight was dismissed after 29 years of leading the Hoosiers. Knight was fired for "a pattern of unacceptable behavior" and for allegedly grabbing and swearing at a student, violating the "zero tolerance" policy instituted by university president Myles Brand. Thousands of devastated students protested the decision.

The Los Angeles Lakers beat the Indiana Pacers 4 to 2 to win the NBA Championship. The win marked the team's seventh championship, and coach Phil Jackson's first win without Michael Jordan. Jackson's New Age coaching style, which included meditation combined with his triangle offense and suffocating defense, led the Lakers to a league-high 67 wins.

One of the hottest holiday items of the year, the mini-scooter, turned out to be more hazardous than fun. More than 100,000 scooters were recalled due to complaints the handles unexpectedly came out of the steering column, causing riders to fall. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reported nearly 10,000 people, mostly children, were treated in hospital emergency rooms for scooter-related injuries by the end of the year.

"Caring capitalism" yielded to creamy profits when Ben Cohen and Jerry Greenfield, otherwise known as the hippie co-founders of Ben & Jerry's ice cream, finally sold their company to multinational conglomerate Unilever, despite public protests of "don't sell out!" Childhood friends Cohen and Greenfield founded the company in 1978.

The Army tested the Crusader, a faster, bigger mobile howitzer intended to replace the Paladin. The $23 million system can travel up to 29 miles per hour, with a shell distance of 25 miles. It can also fire a series of 100-lb. shells in rapid succession at different trajectories so that the shells all land in their target zone at the same time.

A statue of wheelchair-bound President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was dedicated as the centerpiece of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial in Washington, D.C. Only two pictures exist showing the President in his wheelchair. Stricken with polio at age 39, which caused him to lose the use of his legs, Roosevelt kept his handicap a secret for political reasons. The National Organization on Disability fought for six years to get a statue that showed the President as he lived.

Unusually cold temperatures and the lights of the holiday season put a crunch on the California utility market. Exorbitant electricity prices coupled with the threat of rolling blackouts angered consumers who were urged to conserve power, and even take down holiday lights. Despite a cap on the state's utility rates, the California Public Utilities Commission approved a 26 percent rate increase to help the two largest utility companies out of $9 billion dollars of debt. Blackouts throughout the area caused local merchants to suffer and lose revenue.
